The Mennonite Church in 1966

BY A. J. METZLER

Executive Secretary of Mennonite General Conference

First, in behalf of our entire brotherhood and an increasing number beyond, we wish to express the deep appreciation of all to the Mennonite Publishing House, and especially the Yearbook editor and his associates, for again bringing forth this unique publication. This represents twelve months of the most meticulous labors. For many of us this, next to our Bibles, is the most used item on our desk.

This introductory statement is, in a sense, a "state of the union" message. It is intended to give a brief overview of the life and work of the brotherhood. If the statistical and organizational information contained herein may be called the "skeleton," this statement might be the "flesh."

The most recent district conference to join General Conference was the Bihar Mennonite Conference in India. The last area to be organized as a conference was the Northern Light Gospel Mission Conference.

The present membership of 101,041 means our brotherhood has nearly quadrupled in the past sixty years. While this is nothing to be proud of, yet it is much to be grateful for.

Since 1965 was the time for a biennial session of our General Conference, the best recent picture of the life and work of the church, as well as some direction for the time just ahead, can be secured by the following review of reports and more significant actions at Kidron in August, 1965.

The second North American Inter-Mennonite Ministers' Conference was held in Chicago, May 4-6, 1965. Nine different Mennonite groups were represented, and seventy-two persons were registered. The program theme was "Our Fellowship in Christ," based on the Book of Philippians. The third such conference has been proposed for 1968.

Mennonite Mutual Aid continues to expand, both in its services rendered and in the number of people participating in its various plans. This growth has also required some revamping of the organizational structure and administration. This was done in cooperation with competent outside counsel. Also, during the past year a fraternal form of Mennonite Mutual Aid Association has been set up to take the place of Mennonite Aid, Inc., and Mennonite Aid Insurance, Inc. This form of organization is much better suited to the intent of purposes and needs of our brotherhood.

Two committees of long standing and with significant service for our brotherhood have been the Peace Problems Committee and the Committee on Economic and Social Relations. It became increasingly clear that the nature of the work of these two committees was so closely related that it would be much better for them to be combined into one committee. This was done by the last session of General Conference when the Committee on Peace and Social Concerns was established. Two of the more significant actions of this committee were (1) the preparation of the statement on Capital Punishment and the Ministry of the Church to the Offender which, after considerable discussion by the Conference and some revision, was approved; and (2) a telegram to the President of the United States expressing our concern relative to involvement in the war in Vietnam.

The major concern and work of the Ministerial Committee was in the area of the pastoral services for the congregations of the brotherhood. Their attention was given to the matter of a growing scarcity of pastors and to problems related to their training, support, and methods of work. Conference approved their proposal for the establishment of a Ministerial Personnel Office. This service would be primarily in the area of gathering information which would be helpful as guidance to pastors, congregations, and more particularly to the ministerial committees of the respective conferences.

In addition to other important services of the Church Welfare Committee, their studies as requested by General Conference and their recommendation expressing concern for greater attention being given to the area of interchurch relations may have been one of the most significant things launched for the coming biennium. This recommendation included provision for the Executive Committee appointing a committee of three to five brethren to serve in this area during the coming biennium. The primary concerns of this committee as they now begin their work will be to help to lead our brotherhood in a better understanding of the meaning of New Testament unity, and to suggest ways and means by which this can be more effectively experienced and exemplified. The fragmented nature of the 225,000 Mennonites in North America is a growing concern of many. This certainly does not reflect to the world and to Christendom the unity for which Christ died and for which He fervently prayed in His high-priestly prayer. The closing part of this committee's recommendation summarized this concern very well: "The responsibility for dialogue, though some needs to be structured formally, rests on every individual and community of persons to relate to other fellowships, seeking to give a witness to our faith and urgently seeking to learn what God has to say to us via other believers."

The twelve-man Mennonite Commission for Christian Education attempts to fulfill its responsibilities in a wide range of the church's life and work as it works in the following thirteen areas of concern: Sunday schools, summer Bible schools, weekday Bible schools, Sunday evening services, church camps, Christian service training, missionary education, church music, junior activities for boys and for girls, youth work, adult activities, and home interests. In cooperation with their counterparts in other Mennonite groups, there has been a sincere study made to understand clearly the true objective of Christian education. There has been a rather clear crystallizing of the concept that the Christian education aspect of the brotherhood is not a separate function but, in reality, is a part of every phase of the church's ministry. Therefore attempts are being made to cooperate most intimately with the various committees and agencies of the church in undergirding and strengthening the services of these respective ministries.

Another of the more significant actions coming out of the 1965 session of General Conference was the result of the following proposal to the General Council by the Coordinating Committee about two years ago: "We are hereby recommending to General Council a study of the functions and organizations of Conference agencies. A number of these, together with their duties, were established many years ago. Do today's needs warrant the present committees and the functions as originally assigned to them?"

Considerable attention was given to this during the past year. Two full sessions of the General Council were devoted to this in its February, 1965, meeting. The report of the Findings Committee was passed on to General Conference and approved. Not only has the plan been approved by General Conference, but the three major Boards of the church have taken action favoring full cooperation in this study.

Briefly, the study provides for a Study Commission of twelve to look carefully at the organizational structure and administrative procedures of the entire brotherhood on all three levels—general, district, and congregational. Without doubt, this will be by far the most serious attempt to see what God means the church to be and do, and how it should be structured for the fulfillment of its task in today's world. For this to be effective, the entire brotherhood, including primarily the grass roots, will be forced to consider seriously our nature and mission and, together, seek the Spirit's guidance for the most effective use of our God-given resources for the fulfillment of this mission. This study can easily require two bienniums for its completion.

We have two representatives on the planning presidium for the Mennonite World Conference. The eighth Conference will be held in Amsterdam, July 23-30, 1967. We will likely have sixty to seventy-five delegates from our brotherhood. Most of these will be chosen by district conferences, church boards, General Conference and its agencies, and church institutions. With Mennonites now working in more than forty countries of the world and with today's facilities for transportation and communication, Mennonite World Conference is becoming more effective as a means of sharing, fellowshiping, and mutual assistance in the work and ministry of the church.

A major part of our brotherhood's cooperative ministry is carried forward by our three church Boards. In addition to the following brief summaries of their services, additional information can be secured regarding publishing from the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., regarding education from the Educational Coordinator, 1804 Mayflower Place, Goshen, Ind., and regarding missions from the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, 1711 Prairie Street, Elkhart, Ind.

Mennonite Publication Board

The Mennonite Publication Board is composed of representatives elected by district conferences. Its purpose is to be the communication facility of the church primarily through literature. The Board operates through Mennonite Publishing House, Inc., Scottdale, Pa., which conducts a program of publishing periodicals, study helps, and books for use in congregational programs and personal study. The House also operates a chain of retail bookstores under the name of Provident Bookstores.

A few statistics by five-year periods show trends in recent years:

Total Assets	$1,399,597	$2,017,865	$2,259,783
Property, Plant, Equipment only	639,706	780,851	813,221
Total Sales	$1,274,276	$1,796,245	$2,675,803
Bookstores only	379,208	792,138	1,504,907
Gospel Herald, No. of subscribers	18,776	17,519	23,702

A major emphasis of the Publishing House since 1958 has been to improve the bookstore facilities and service. Some have been relocated in better merchandising areas. All have been redesigned and remodeled. There has been steady growth in sales as these literature supply centers serve Christians of all denominations.

During 1966, at the plant in Scottdale, phototypesetting equipment will be installed. This involves a complete change of process from hot metal composition used since the establishment of the House in 1908. The new process will provide better quality composition at lower cost because of its increased compatibility with the offset printing method now employed in over 85 percent of the publications of the House.

Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

The Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities extends the mission and outreach efforts of congregations and district conferences of the Mennonite Church beyond their geographic limits. It also becomes a channel among them where cooperative action is needed because of scope, technical dimensions, or other reasons. The total missions efforts of the Mennonite Church beyond its congregations include both district boards and Mennonite Board of Missions.

Financial operations of these mission boards were reported in the annual handbook of Mennonite Board of Missions for 1965 (for its fiscal year ending March 31, 1965) as follows:

Contributions for 17 district mission efforts	$1,707,069
Contributions for Mennonite Board of Missions	1,779,573
Other income returned and expended by the Board	138,229
Material aid contributions to Mennonite Central Committee from Mennonite Church congregations, valued at	282,576

Mennonite Central Committee is the inter-Mennonite relief and service agency.

Mennonite Board of Missions used contributions coming to it for overseas missions, home missions and evangelism, broadcasting and literature, voluntary service, services to men in alternative service, student services, and health and welfare. The total number of persons used in these efforts, including part-time persons and summer voluntary service workers, totaled 1,543.

The area of Board work involving most funds is Overseas Missions, which extends and builds the church in seventeen overseas fields in fourteen countries. Home Missions seeks to improve, strengthen, and stimulate the extension of congregations and conferences at home. Health and Welfare administers services in four children's programs of widely varied types, eight retirement or nursing homes, and nine general hospitals (most of them community owned). Voluntary Service channels the personal service of more than 240 people in forty-four or forty-five locations as they serve children in homes and schools, the ill in hospitals, communities in self-development, and other more specialized concerns. Services to men in Alternative Service are designed to render them more effective workers and better Christian witnesses as these several hundred men perform civilian tasks in lieu of military service under direction of the government. Student Services is concerned with assisting nearly 1,500 students as they express their own desires for help on the non-Mennonite college or university campuses where they find themselves studying and carrying their witness as Christians. Mennonite Broadcasts is concerned with a dozen radio broadcasts in seven languages and with literature follow-up.

A major change made at the 1965 annual meeting held in Goshen, Ind., in June combined the evangelistic literature concern with the broadcasts department into a Mass Communications department. Overseas church nurture literature concerns were located in the Overseas Missions office.

Mennonite Board of Education

There are the following number of students in Mennonite homes in the United States and Canada: 21,000 elementary; 11,000 high school, and 9,000 college.

There are about fifty Mennonite-operated elementary schools. (The Amish operate many more.)

About one fifth of the 11,000 are in the eleven Mennonite high schools.

College attendance is rapidly growing. The three Mennonite colleges—Eastern Mennonite College at Harrisonburg, Va.; Goshen College at Goshen, Ind.; and Hesston College at Hesston, Kans.—enroll some 1,500 Mennonite youth. This is over 17 percent of the Mennonite college-age youth, as compared to about 14 percent in 1955. Another 9 percent are scattered in some 400 colleges and universities in all parts of the country, as compared to only 3 percent ten years ago. Nursing, business, and technical schools enroll another 5 percent in post-high-school training, as compared to one percent in 1955. This total proportion of about 31 percent of Mennonite college-age youth, which is receiving some post-high-school education, is smaller than the American average.

In addition, graduate schools and post-college professional schools claim a very rapidly increasing number of Mennonites. This growing educational group represents also the most significant current development in the education of Mennonites, bringing to the life and witness of our church a new potential.

The brotherhood's concern for the quality and the Christian aspects of education is implemented both through the work of the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education, which is focused on the Christian education within the congregations, and through the various school organizations within the church.

Mennonite elementary schools are locally initiated and operated where there is sufficient interest to provide these schools. The Association of Mennonite Elementary Schools is an autonomous, advisory organization of some twenty of these schools. These are named on page 16.

Mennonite high schools are regionally initiated and operated, usually by a board responsible to a district conference. These are named on page 15. The Secondary Education Council is an advisory organization for Mennonite high schools, and serves also the Mennonite Board of Education in its general interests in the high-school education of Mennonite youth. Its organization is shown on page 13.

Due to the college's broader base of interest, the churchwide Mennonite Board of Education owns and operates the two colleges at Goshen and at Hesston. A board responsible to the Virginia Conference owns and operates Eastern Mennonite College. Conrad Grebel College is operated by a board representing various Mennonite groups in Ontario. The Ontario Mennonite Bible Institute is owned and operated by a board responsible to the Ontario Mennonite Conference. These schools are listed on page 13.

The Mennonite Board of Education (shown on page 12) is representative primarily of the district conferences and is charged both with the operation of the two colleges under its control, and with the broader education concerns of the entire Mennonite brotherhood on all levels of education.

The Mennonite Student Services Committee has concerned itself with serving graduate students, and is working more toward serving also the many Mennonite undergraduate students attending non-Mennonite schools.

The demands upon our colleges for expanding their facilities and increasing the quality of their services call loudly for the brotherhood's loyal support in funds and prayers.

Theme for 1965-67 Biennium

For many years the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education has adopted a theme for emphasis for one year, or more recently for a biennium. The importance of this has become recognized to such an extent that in recent years most agencies have cooperated with the Commission in the choice and promotion of such a theme. For the current biennium the theme, "Our Mission Is One," has been adopted. The primary thrust of this is to show that the task of the church is not many things planned, supported, and carried out by various agencies, but the task is truly one. There are various ways of stating this task. One method would be to say that it is the loving, redeeming, restoring, reconciling, healing ministry of God in Christ through His church. This must be the one goal to which all agencies of the church direct their efforts.

A secondary application of this theme, "Our Mission Is One," is to show that the task of each individual, congregation, district, denomination, and all Christendom is one. We hasten to state that this does not imply organic unity, but it does clearly imply that God has given one task to His church.

The next sessions of General Conference will be with the Franconia Conference in 1967 and with the Pacific Coast Conference in 1969.

Mennonite Church Financial "Askings" for 1965-66

By Daniel Kauffman

Secretary of Stewardship

Well over 50 percent of the Mennonite churches now distribute their contributions according to a plan adopted at the congregation's annual meeting. This plan is usually called a budget and is based on the program or ministry which the congregation accepts for itself for the forthcoming year. To assist congregations in the preparation of their budgets the boards and agencies of the church give guidance in the form of "per member askings."

Congregations use these per member amounts and the membership listed for their congregation in the Mennonite Yearbook to determine the ratio of their giving to be distributed to the various church agencies.

The amounts suggested here are not ceilings. Larger congregations (those above 125 in membership) should attempt to do 110-125 percent of the per member askings. This will make up for the smaller congregations (those below 50 in membership) that find it difficult to meet the full askings.

	Per member amount needed each year	Total amount budgeted by the agency	Supplemental amount budgeted if funds available
1. Mennonite General Conference Includes Commission for Christian Education, Peace and Social Concerns Committee, MCC Peace Section, Church Welfare Committee, Mutual Aid, Historical and Research Committee, Ministerial Committee, Stewardship Program, MYF, Worship Committee, Mennonite World Conference, General Council, and Executive Committee.	$ 2.75	$ 97,929	$ 30,300
2. Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities Includes foreign and home missions, relief (through MCC), VS and I-W services, broadcasting, and Health and Welfare.	30.00	1,703,000	197,550
3. Higher Education Includes operating and building funds for Hesston, Goshen, Eastern Mennonite, and Conrad Grebel. (Each congregation distributes its higher education funds to the college in its own area.)	10.00	517,500	442,500*
4. Goshen College Biblical Seminary Tuition in a seminary is very low. The seminary must be subsidized in excess of $1,200 per student. This money is used for faculty salaries, library, plant maintenance, and student scholarships.	2.00	60,000	--------
5. District Conference Needs The district conference askings are so broad and varied that it is impractical to present them here. Congregations should check with their district conference officers or stewardship secretary for the exact figures for their conference. This figure usually includes the district conference and its mission board, secondary and elementary school (if any), mental hospitals, WMSA, camps, homes for the aged, Christian Workers' Conference, as well as other agencies the district may have.
6. The Local Congregation Likewise, it is not practical to suggest an amount for the congregation's local mission. This must be determined by the congregation's program. Usually the congregation plans its local mission around the following classifications: (a) pastoral ministry, (b) congregational administration and general, (c) Christian education, (d) congregational agency costs, (e) congregational outreach, and (f) maintenance.

*Congregations show their poorest performance in their response for higher education. Only about $4 per member is contributed toward a need of $10. Hence congregations are asked to take more seriously the $10 per member asking. Our colleges need nearly double the amount that the congregations are currently contributing, to carry out the educational requests from the church.

TANGANYIKA MENNONITE CHURCH

The work in this area was formerly administered by the Tanganyika Mennonite Mission. In 1960 the Tanganyika Mennonite Church was formally organized (see Church Directory). The work formerly administered by the mission was turned over to the church with the exception of the Mara Hills School which is administered by the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities through a local board consisting of three missionaries. The former mission properties have been turned over to the church and the Tanganyika Mennonite Mission as such has been dissolved.

Following is a list of missionaries appointed by the Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities for service in Tanzania. All of these with the exception of the Mara Hills School are responsible to the Tanganyika Mennonite Church for their assignment and work.

Geographical Index to Congregations

in the United States and Canada

(Arranged alphabetically by city and state or province)

This index may be used to locate the conference affiliation of a congregation when only the city is known. (This index is based on the post-office address given in the Church Directory.) Please refer to the Church Directory for a more complete address and other information about the congregation. All groups in the Church Directory are included here except the Old Order Amish Mennonite churches.
